Henry P. Greenleaf had a birthday last Saturday, Sept. 10. F. Stanley Peaco's was on Sunday, Sept. 11 and a joint birthday party was held at the Greenleaf cottage by Saturday noon on Sunday afternoon. About forty-five guests were present and a very pleasant, yet quiet time was enjoyed. At 3:30 refreshments were served under the supervision of Mrs. Lillian Peaco, consisting of sandwiches, cakes of various kinds, coffee and ice cream. Mrs. Peaco was assisted by Mrs. Frank Beane, Miss Lillian Beane, Miss Virginia Greenleaf and others. The boys and girls had a very pleasant time and decorated besides several gifts. The time was so pleasantly passed the call to separate for home came too soon. Wishing the guests of honor many happy returns of the day the pleasant afternoon ended. Schools in town began last Monday. Nearly all the teachers returned to the schools they taught last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Auburn called at their father's, W. F. Smith's last Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peaco of New Gloucester were in town last Sunday, calling on relatives.

Cattle Departments Crowded

Large Variety and Some Fine Animals

Every stall in the cattle sheds was occupied and two tents with a total length of 200 ft. were required to shelter the overflow. Many years have passed since so large a number have been exhibited. Nearly 500 arrived from the State fair and about 150 more head came from stock and dairy farms not represented at Lewiston.

Summarizing the entries, the following list will show the breeds and the wide territory which furnished the excellent display:

Jerseys, C. R. King, South Paris; C. E. and A. J. Luce, Farmington. Milking Shorthorns, Henry J. Wheelwright, Bangor.

Brown Swiss, C. A. Flint, Norway; C. E. Robinson, Livermore Falls. Beef Shorthorns, H. A. Whitman, Buckfield.

Herefords, Dr. E. E. Babier, Wilton; Warren S. Abbott, Ramford; H. P. Brown & Son, Norway; Leroy J. Abbott, West Paris.

Milking Shorthorns, Leslie Millett, Norway; Lester N. Hobbs, Acton; Henry J. Wheelwright, Bangor; Field Farm, Litchfield; P. O. Berry & Son, Litchfield.

Dutch Belts, L. N. Hobbs, Acton; J. A. Wilson, Brunswick. Ayrshires, J. E. Purinton, Litchfield; E. E. Field & Son, Greene.

Holsteins, A. D. Cummings, South Paris; L. A. Kyes, North Jay; John D. Grover, North Lovell; Harry B. McKenney, North Lovell.

Guernseys, Miss Dorothy Richards, Tanwath Farm, Bluehill. Entered in the various classes were the pulling teams of Mark Twitchell, Bolster's Mills; L. L. Hawkes, Cumberland Center; Seamon & Williams, Topsham; Elmer J. Thomas, Harrison; Cunningham & Allard, Jefferson; Kenneth A. Leonard, Denmark; Roger S. Bracon, North Berwick; C. L. Thomas, Harrison; Robinson & Knowles, Wilton; Penley & Wood, Norway; L. V. Everett, West Paris; P. H. Fogg, Cose; F. H. Noble, Norway; L. G. Newcomb, Norway; Arnold Stone, Paris; H. P. Brown & Son, Norway; P. A. Millett, South Paris; Charles R. Bean, East Hiram; Leslie Stevens, Turner; Philip Chute, Harrison; Carroll D. Penley, South Paris; H. S. Wood, Norway.

Among the horses on hand to start the pulling was Fred Seamon of Topsham, A. B. Grover & Son, Welchville; Roy Thurston, Andover; L. E. Stevens, Turner; E. L. Tebbets Spool Co., Locke's Mills; Harry Staples, Hebron; Woodbury Thayer, South Paris; C. L. Thomas, Harrison; Harold, Leeds; Herbert McKenney, South Portland; Alvin S. Berry, Augusta; Andrews & Grover, Norway; M. R. Hastings, Bethel; Thomas Westleigh, West Bethel.

C. A. Flint's twenty head of purebred Brown Swiss from Lake Ridge Farm, Norway, were headed by the sire, College Boy Surprise, weighing 2100 pounds. Mr. Flint has sold two bulls to the J. P. Morgan farms and receives good money for his stock. He started this breed a few years ago and has developed a nice herd.

Seamon Farm, A. D. Cummings, proprietor, had sixteen head of prize Holsteins familiar to all fair patrons who appreciate neat stock.

One of the largest exhibits was the Dutch Belts of L. N. Hobbs of Milton Mills, N. H. There were twenty-five head of short horns under canvas, Valley Farm, J. A. Wilson, proprietor, Brunswick, had a nice herd of Dutch Belts from the bull down the scale of ages to a calf only a few weeks old.

MR. FINNEY'S CAR

Mr. Finney bought an auto and he named it Henry Ford. And the parts of his machine.

He knew from top to bottom board. He knew just what each part was for.

For he had been to the movies. And seen them make a brand new car. He fills the carburetor with hard grease. But when he tries to assemble it.

He finally gets it together well. And the parts fit fairly well. But why he runs the car no longer.

For if I should say you would doubt. For if I should say you if you did. But this miracle I'll tell to you. But this miracle I'll tell to you. But this miracle I'll tell to you.

Observed Along the Way

Changes in Eating House Row—Familiar Faces and New Additions

Two landmarks have disappeared from Eating House Row, namely the buildings near the main entrance corner of the exhibition hall. One was occupied by the Ladies Circle of the South Paris Congregational church, the other was the place where the Norway Congregational women served the public. Both were popular places for nearly half a century. Change in conditions with the advent of auto lunches, scores of hot dog stands and other competitors, all cut down profits and finally closed the places. There was too much work for the money, especially during a time when ingredients were high and help scarce.

Skeetop, the veteran basket vendor, has crossed the Great Divide and will no more occupy his accustomed place in the hall. He died about a month ago in his home at West Scarborough, years of failing health. His wife had the same space and carried on the business of selling sweet grass baskets. Skeetop had been at this fair at least forty years. As his purposes developed into baskets and squares they worked on the midway for fortune teller or sold baskets and bows. The "in-laws" also followed the chase and grandchildren are now on the road, but too young to enter the bread winning game. The paper few years Skeetop and his family, during the fair, camped in wigwams below the cattle sheds and prepared their meals over an open fire, true to tribal instincts.

William Kerrigan of Portland, dealer in soft drinks, smokes, etc., has his spot as usual. He represents the old timers, although not beyond middle age. His father, John Kerrigan, made a start here when the fair was the one-kind kind and sold oranges. Stoves hauled up from Portland in single horse rigs. William, then in dresses, accompanied his father and naturally picked up the business as time passed. John died years ago, but he remains in the memory of the older generation closely connected with the midway folk every September.

Richard J. Coleman, better known as "Dick", and one of the big three at the head of Coleman Bros. Shows, was laid up here. Blood poison in his left foot near the big toe required the professional services of Dr. Johnson, traveling with the show. Dick is a bundle of energy and laying off the job was not to his liking. The doctor gave orders he kept. There was much to be done and he frequently broke training rules and attended to some detail. Probably you saw a well dressed chap gamely hobbling about the midway, that was Dick.

Georgy Smith, the Norway blacksmith, had a portable shop in a tent where he looked after the footwear of the light harness racers. He has followed the horsemen the past summer and will keep up with the hits until the final curtain is rung down.

Llewellyn Smith of Oxford had a busy season after taking the string owned by his son from summer training to fairs far away as Canada. They met with fairly good winnings.

That miniature chair-plane was a safe amusement for the kiddies. It was new here and proved a boon for little people not quite large enough for more strenuous excitement. It was a happy thought of Helen J. Coleman that provided this joy for the youngest patrons.

HEBRON REGISTRATION IS OFF ONE-FOURTH

Hebron Academy opened for the fall term with registration about seventy-five per cent of normal. As additional registrations are expected, evidence points to a student body about as large as last year. The greater number of boys registering are from Maine and Massachusetts, with all New England States well represented, and other from further south and as far west as Ohio.

Two new instructors appear on the faculty, Elton S. Kitchen, in the department of mathematics, and Manning Hawthorne in the department of English.

FRYEBURG—TOLL BRIDGE

Mrs. Frank Hill had an ill turn one day last week. A doctor was called.

Mrs. Ella McAllister worked in the North Fryeburg corn shop, Sunday, so that her sister-in-law, Mrs. Josephine McAllister could visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Learned, at South Waterford.

Joseph Buzzell, since he became of voting age has never missed a September or November election, voting the Republican ticket. Mr. Buzzell was eighty-two in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McAllister of Locke Mills were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. McAllister.

Harris Twombly of Conway, Mr. and Mrs. L. Flint of Fryeburg were recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Gage.

School opened Sept. 12 with one new scholar, Carlton McAllister.

Allan Fraser came home, Sept. 9 to help Kenneth Fraser pick corn; he brought a full blood collie puppy.

Halbert, Harold and Roland McAllister, Fred Holt, 2nd, and L. V. Gage helped E. C. Buzzell & Son pick sweet corn this week.

The Way We

Look at it

We look upon our work as an opportunity to be of service. It has practically the same problems as any other business or profession and is subject in the same way to common sense and fair dealing. But we think it gives unusual scope for sympathy and thoughtfulness, and these qualities have a large part in the ideal we set for ourselves.

like a pineapple. However, Maine season is too short for the tubers to mature. The fruit has not been tested. In addition to this collection, Mr. Morse had a collection of eight varieties of tomatoes, and three of the miniature varieties, also peppers, green and ripe.

G. Norton Emmons of West Paris had a very attractive display of assorted vegetables, and also a collection of large pumpkins.

Donald Pike, West Paris, 10 years of age, had a very fine collection of vegetables, and two mammoth sunflower tops. Arthur Jackson, Norway, 15 years of age, also had a very good display of assorted vegetables.

There were many individual exhibits of different kinds of vegetables in unusual sizes or shapes. Mrs. Herbert S. Wood showed a squash kept from 1931. B. F. Richards, some fine traces of corn, and a basket of tomatoes, large and small. W. C. Symonds, Norway, two pepper plants, growing mammoth peppers.

One of the old annual exhibitors, W. O. Perry, was missing from the list this year, as he has not raised as much as usual and decided he was too lame to do it. He attended the fair and was interested to see such a fine exhibit.

George N. Emmons of Elm Dale Fruit Farm, West Paris, occupied a large space opposite the fruit exhibit, showing everything imaginable that could be grown on the farm, including the tall corn stalks used for the side decoration, and in the back, many grains and grasses. In the center was a large collection of canned fruits and vegetables, jam and jellies, and on one side was every kind of a vegetable and on the other, the fruits, showing a wide variety. It is hard to believe that so many kinds could be grown on one farm.

Dorothy Cushman, West Paris, 13 years of age, had a very attractive display of canned fruits, vegetables, and meats, about sixty jars.

Louise Turner of Mechanic Falls had a display of about twenty jars of canned goods.

Erlan Townsend of Otisfield showed six jars of jelly and jam.

Between the Grange exhibits Mrs. T. H. Graham had a small space where she demonstrated the merits of Graham's Cleanser, for cleaning gloves, shoes, etc. She also sold novelty jewelry. She lives in Old Orchard.

UPPER HALL

The four largest exhibits are, as usual, by the Granges from Hebron, South Paris, Norway and Frederick Robie, Otisfield. Hebron Grange chose for the border decoration, fir boughs and at the corners had mammoth corn stalks. The sign "Hebron Grange" was made from crab apples edged with the fir. One end and a portion of the back was covered with grasses and grains. In the center was a large case containing twenty varieties of home cooked foods. Just above this was a model of "The Flying Cloud," the fastest square rigger to sail between New York and San Francisco. It was built to exact scale by Ernest Davenport, a member of Hebron Grange. This was much admired and attracted many favorable comments. At one side was the display of vegetables, attractively arranged, with the larger ones forming a sort of frame for the smaller kinds. There was a fine display of fruit, needlework, and flowers; many plates of seeds; a case containing dairy products, a dressed chicken, eggs, butter, cheese, milk, cream, honey and maple syrup. One end was with canned goods and jellies. Sofa pillows and many novelties were well arranged. Vases of flowers were used about the edge on the floor. This Grange won the first prize.

Paris Grange used asparagus and hyacinths for the decoration. On the posts were tall sunflowers and on the middle post were traces of sweet corn and branches of plums that had borne abundantly. One end was filled with a fine display of canned fruits and vegetables and jellies. At either edge, vases of flowers were arranged. As a background for the vegetables were the grasses and grains and between the display plates were sprigs of asparagus. Many mammoth and freak shapes in potatoes were shown.

Needlework, sofa pillows, stuffed birds and a squirrel, wool in the rough, the yarn on the old fashioned reel, and the knitted mitten showed the travel of the wool. A rug made by a blind woman of pink pieces; hops as they were growing, a case containing twenty varieties of home cooked food, all made up a fine display and captured second prize.

Norway Grange used asparagus and golden rod for the edge decorations. Tall sunflowers covered the posts and corners, and also traces of corn. The center was devoted to the grasses and grains, and tall corn stalks, and mammoth pumpkins and squash. At one side was the canned goods and vegetables and on the other side the fruits and needlework, flowers, vases of seeds in glasses, and a case containing home cooked foods. Norway captured third prize.

Frederick Robie Grange used hemlock and mountain cranberries for decorations, with tall corn stalks and sunflowers for the corners and posts. One end was devoted to the canned goods and jellies. The vegetable display included some mammoth growths. Grasses and grains, seeds in tumblers, flowers, needlework, rugs, a case of dairy products, several old quilts, one an egg, and another a pepper plant, and another, that puzzled everyone, as did a cut plant in a vase. All made up a very attractive display and was awarded the fourth prize.

The exhibit of fancy work was most attractive, and the prize winners were: South Paris, attracted much attention. A separate case contained the crocheted articles and tatting. There was also a fine exhibit of hand painting in china, glassware, sofa pillows; oil paintings and water colors; crayon work by Mrs. Gladys Greenleaf, Norway; collection of water colors by Dorothy Wiles; novelty water colors, etc. The children's work, under 16 years of age, in needlework, handcraft, oil paintings, etc., was most creditable. Mrs. C. K. Winslow, South Paris, showed a novelty vegetable couplet, made wholly of fresh vegetables, with pumpkins for the heads, onions for the eyes, corn husks for the clothes, etc. Mrs. H. A. Kenney, South Paris, a novelty lamp, made from a World War scrapbook, made from a Lillian Shaw, South Paris, a mammoth Jerusalem cherry tree.

Gordon Coffin, Norway, 18 years of age, showed a model house, two stories, all fitted for housekeeping and electric lighted, so the through the windows. The plants were made by Arthur Woodworth, showing the arrangement of the rooms. A very clever display.

Sherwood Cleveland, Norway, showed a model of an alpaca well done. And there were many other novelties, which there were not allow for enumeration. Jack Penfold, South Paris, had a book case; Kermit Wilson, a speed boat; David Goss an air plane, all well done.

S. L. Perham, Maine minerals in a small booth. The Sportsman's Exchange, Bridgton, showed five pieces, all Maine products. J. R. Watkins Co. occupied space, showing their products, for the poultry, medicine cabinet, soap department, toilet goods; stock and poultry preparations, etc.

The Bunsen burner, from Leviston, showed the Bunsen burner with all its good points, as "it has no poor ones." The "Beard Hospital" from York Beach and St. Petersburg, Florida, carried everything in bands which the demonstrators make into beautiful things.

"Puffles" occupied a small space and demonstrated how these dainty confections were puffed in five different flavors. Another small space was used by a demonstrator for the relief of tired feet and corns and callouses.

In the center of the hall, front, E. O. Spaulding, Harrison, sold a special inducement of a box of soap and a bath towel and wash cloth. Arthur Corliss of Leviston showed handmade leather articles, silhouettes and tatting. In the other corner, a free hand artist, Charles E. Carlson of Canaan, did "lightning" work in the organ, drawing the subject as he sat in a chair before him. Very clever. Corliss is a disabled World War veteran and was confined at the hospital at Togus the past winter and made these articles during his convalescence.

The display of fruit occupied one whole side and three-quarters of another, and was the best in years, as judged by Chas. George, 98 years of age, as one of the judges. The apples were of good size, well colored, and were beautiful to look at. George N. Emmons, West Paris; J. W. Colby, South Paris; A. A. Conant, Hebron, had several boxes and baskets of commercial packages, as well as individual displays. N. E. B. had a fancy display of nearly all red varieties. Then there were pears, plums, peaches, grapes, by as many exhibitors. The 4-H Clubs had a very fine exhibit. The Boys' Garden Clubs showed what they had done in raising the garden. The girls showed home canning, cooking, and needlework in a great variety of articles. The Cooking Clubs showed bread and muffins, all looking good enough to have been cooked by their elders. The different articles made by the sewing clubs was a revelation to many who did not realize what the work was but proved to them the worthwhile things the girls are learning.

The rest room, arranged by the W. C. T. U. was very restful, with plenty of seats, vases of flowers, health literature, etc., a very restful place for the weary. The display of quilts and bed spreads was very large, and many beautiful ones were shown. Some new designs attracted much attention. There were also number of braided and drawn rugs, large and small.

Poultry Exhibits

Largest Show in Years

At least one-half the space under the grandstand was used to display approximately 400 of the feathered friends, including a large lot of ducks, geese and turkeys.

Harry Lovejoy was superintendent with Frank Bates as a helper. The display was in charge of Prof. David Brown of Norway and C. Guy Buck of South Paris. So many varieties were shown that not one-half the birds were judged during Tuesday.

There were less than a dozen exhibitors. W. V. Carpenter of Old Orchard had 230 birds and C. H. Anderson of Sabatius about 150. Mr. Carpenter's stock was made up of forty varieties, only a small part could be entered for prizes as the society did not permit many of the fancy breeds he had. The Carpenter show was the same taken to the fair at Gorham, Bangor, Woodstock, N. B., and Presque Isle. He will go from here to Hopkinton, N. Y., Rochester, N. H., and Plymouth.

This was the largest show in years and greatly improved by lifting the ban on out of county stock held tight the past few years. H. Ray Bennett of Norway offered a nice display of Buff Plymouth Rocks he raised from day old chicks. His work has been successful and a fine line is being developed.

Leslie Millett, Norway, showed handsome Barred Plymouth Rocks, also Rouen ducks.

Mrs. H. M. Jackson, Norway, had nice colored S. C. R. I. Reds that made a sizeable display partly on account of the large numbers entered. Her pen, containing one male and four females was one of the best.

G. N. Emmons, West Paris, had a large number of Light Brahmas in singles and pens.

Norman Goodwin, Norway, a 4-H Club boy, was on hand with S. C. R. I. Reds, singles, pairs and utility pens. The stock was carefully selected for standard color and shape so lined up in showroom form.

Roy Perham, West Paris, showed Brown Leghorns in pairs and pens. Arthur C. Jackson, Norway, offered Rouen ducks, Toulouse geese and bronze turkeys.

C. H. Coffin, Mechanic Falls, one of the exhibitors with many birds, had S. C. R. I. Reds, chicks, hens, cockerels and utility pens.

Mrs. Ida M. Emmons, West Paris, was right there with five colored Moscow ducks.

In the Worcester exhibit were Barred Rocks, Buff Rocks, White Rocks, White Faced Black Spanish, S. C. Blue Andalusian, S. C. Ancona, Silver Gray Dorking, Light and Dark Brahmas, White Buff Orpington, Leghorns in singles and pens, Cochins and Silkies.

C. H. Anderson, second largest exhibitor, showed Buff Rocks, Columbian Rocks, Partridge Silver Pencilled, R. I. Reds and S. C. R. I. Whites, Buff Wyandottes, Partridge Columbian, S. C. White Leghorns, Ducks including Pekin, Alebury, Rouen, Colored Muscovy, Cochin, Gray Call, East India and Crested White. The geese were Toulouse, Embden, Brown China and white, and Bronze turkeys.

Circus a Free Attraction

Many Wonderful Stunts—Trained Animals—Exciting Trapeze Work

One of the units of the Wheeler & Sautelle circus under the personal supervision of Al. F. Wheeler, got up across the track in front of the grandstand to provide free entertainment between the heats every day and as a prelude to the fireworks, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Two rings using coracles without top or side walls and the vaudeville stage were used for acts that included swinging ladders, comedy balancing, bounding nut, trained dogs and ponies. Farmer Clark and his educated pig, clown burlesques, and the famous aerial group, a family of adult and juvenile acrobats. The well known head slide down a wire was performed by the elder Coriell and was a bright spot in the program.

"The Flying Thrillers" in a class casting act in midair, using two trapeze and perch. Paul Thorpe and Fred Valentine were the leapers and "Hank" Robbins caught his partners by hands or feet and returned them to the perch.

Fred Valentine did a leap with a sack over his head, but the routine that stopped the show was a stunt known in the business as the "over and under" leap, once a feature with the "Flying Wards." The men were injured in rapid succession after one passed in mid air over the other. Each was returned to the trapeze and made a safe landing in a storm of applause.

The show was furnished by Jack Phillips' circus band and Mr. Wheeler made the announcements in a "mike" that carried his introductions to remote sections of the grounds.

Tex Ted Lewis' Wild West troupe followed the circus program and entertained with rope spinning, bronco busting, a bucking steer and a mule that could unseat the stickiest rider.

The show played four fairs before coming here and Oxford County is the first Maine fair to use a circus for a free attraction.

Automobile Show

Building Filled With Cars

Only three prominent local auto dealers had the space in the automobile building, but this was pretty well filled. One side was devoted to advanced models but across the way used cars put into good condition were placed and priced to move quickly.

Ralph L. Sturges, Norway, had two new trucks and two passenger cars, all Chevrolets. Four used cars were on the opposite side. Cut flowers and a few pictures added color. One old time print showed the first steam carriage, which operated between London and Bath, England, way back in the dim past. Clifford Seothorne was in charge.

Arthur Frost and Bert Hill of Harrison talked about the good qualities of Buicks and Pontiacs at the Norway Buick Co. space. Five new models and four used cars were for inspection.

Harold Fletcher explained the important features of the 8-V. Buick in the exhibit of Ripley & Fletcher Co. of South Paris. Five new Ford cars and two trucks were handy for examination, while three used machines were on the other side. Bugs from the W. D. Bolster Co. of South Paris hung on the walls and made a pleasing background.

Plenty of literature was available at these places and experts answered questions also gave practical demonstrations on models in the showroom.

This hall was open evenings and attracted a long line of sightseers. A good list of prospects was secured and a few sales made.

WEST LOVELL

Mrs. William Lord writes: Doris Paine, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Paine, North Waterford, spent a week with William Lord and family just before her school commenced. We all enjoyed her company very much. She is just a little girl. She is a very smart little girl. One thing that amused me so I just wish to put it in the paper. She asked me several times how old I was, just for fun. I never told her. After she saw me reading the Bible several mornings, she said, "Olive, now I know you are an old lady, as only grandmothers read the Bible." Saturday, last night and Sunday morning, Mrs. Lord was very sick; in the afternoon she felt much better, so she with the rest of the family, went on the Fair Grounds. She felt before she left for home and Sunday night had to summon the doctor. She was unable to get up before Monday about 5 p. m. Several of her neighbors called, some brought garden flowers to her and offered assistance. Mrs. Lord was pleased with her kind friends and neighbors. D. E. Campbell and W. E. Lord want you Advertiser readers to know the Norway gardens have nothing on our garden. We had squash, beans, peas, several weighing thirteen pounds; several since averaged about the same; beans, corn, cucumbers, onions, cabbage, tomatoes and about every other vegetable you can mention proved good and plentiful. We have nine bushels of potatoes in the cellar and canned vegetables, fruit and pickles. We were well blessed this season.

Heard and Seen at Advertiser Office

A small pocketbook was picked up on Maine Street one night last week and was left at this office for the owner to identify.

Another lucky dog has been added to the golfers hole-in-one club. Wilfred Conary, Jr., of Norway, made the hole-in-one on the 18th hole in a tournament play on Paris Hill, Aug. 28, and carried away an amount of prizes and complimentary tokens for bringing the course into the foreground.

A post card from Roger Hutchins at Tijuana Hot Springs, Mex., says, "Greetings across the border." The picture is a scene in the Patio, Agua Caliente Hotel, where rows of tables in an alcove are filled with guests and waiters. There are bottles of something, probably Poland Spring water.

C. C. Harvey of The Port Fairfield Review says: "Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire seems to have the idea that he is a Daniel Webster, an Alexander Hamilton, a Theodore Roosevelt, a Woodrow Wilson and a Frederick Hall all in one, but perhaps nobody besides himself thinks that he is quite that kind of a genius."

We feel that he is about all there is politically worthwhile in the state.

Phil Phillips, leader of the band with Wheeler & Savelle circus called Wednesday morning. He is a veteran trumpeter and director, having been a trouper on many shows. For some years he directed the circus band of twenty pieces and claims to be the first to broadcast band music. The initial performance was in 1922 at Constitution Auditorium, Atlanta, Ga., when the musical organization went on the air from station WGM.

Mrs. Kate Richardson presented us with a large bouquet of dahlias yesterday, from her garden. Among them were bright yellow, bright orange, red and white unevenly mixed and one with a perfect white center with several rows of red outer rings. There were other colors and colors and shades. One large one was some seven inches in diameter. One, she said, was eleven inches across. She has a fine flower garden and a good vegetable garden as well.

Four kittens were born at Ashton's house. The old cat seemed to be very fond of the kitten for her brood and saked the kittens across Oak Avenue to the home of Gifford Walker. There she found comfortable quarters, but a lukewarm reception. A few days later the kittens were housed out to be outdone by the unbidden guest, gave birth to four kittens and the rooms have been turned into a maternity hospital. We are told that any child who is born in the cat tribe can make arrangements for board and care.

In the Boston Transcript appears the following good news to common anglers: "At a college to equip fishermen with something more than luck has been established at Boston. The college is headed by Dr. C. H. Bryan, retired Chicago physician. The physician says he organized a course of instruction because he was pained at the inactivity of the fishermen who form the faculty of the college will show the newcomers just how it's done, not as a profit-making proposition, they are to be taught as a matter of personal satisfaction."

"The fishermen's college" issues a diploma conferring a degree of "bachelor of fishery." We are told that any child who is born in the cat tribe can make arrangements for board and care.

"This certifies that the (holder) has shown himself to be a brave man when tackling a big fish. He has had his thumbs burned on his reel, his rod broke and his eyes lighted from the line with out showing any signs of fear. He also speaks the truth when telling of the size, strength and ferocity of a fish."
